Car's Dive At Bridge Drowns 7

Victims Found After 6 Hours

POMEROY—(AP)—Seven persons drowned last night when their automobile missed a bridge and plunged into a swollen creek at Bradbury, three miles southwest of here.

The victims, all residents of Jackson, were Wilbur Keller, 27, and his mother Mrs. Roy Keller, 52; Mrs. Clara Diles, 54; Mrs. Goldie Lambert, 33, and her son Henry Lambert, 7; Mrs George Sturgill, 18; Richard Trego, 8.

The party was returning home from a Nazarene church rally at nearby Middleport when the accident occurred, about 11:30 p. m.

Emmett Lightfoot, a New York Central railroad fireman who lived near the bridge on State Route 125, discovered the automobile at 5:30 a. m. as he was going home from work.

The automobile, a 1936 four-door Pontiac, lay partly submerged in the stream.

Wilbur Keller, who apparently was driving the car, was a war veteran. He was employed at the Crown Foundry works at Jackson "and was a well known softball pitcher. He is survived by his widow and a year-old baby.

WOMAN HEARS CRASH

Lightfoot's wife said she heard a crash about 11:30 last night. The automobile after missing the bridge, ran down a 25-foot embankment.

Coroner Henry Ewing of Meigs county said the victims died of "drowning and asphyxiation" and there would be no inquest.

After the state highway patrol and sheriff's office hooked four trucks together to drag the automobile from the stream, the bodies were removed to a funeral home in Pomeroy.

The bodies were sprawled about in the car as if the victims had fought to get out of the machine. None of the car doors was open, however.

A huge crowd gathered at the scene as the patrol and sheriffs deputies worked to remove the car in Meigs county's worst traffic fatality.

ALP Scores Vote Victory

Wallace-Backed Candidate Wins

NEW YORK—(AP)—The smashing, unexpected triumph of a Henry A. Wallace-backed American Labor party candidate in a special Bronx congressional election handed Democratic party leaders a severe jolt today.

Third party strategists were elated. Wallace himself, in Tampa, Fla., on a speaking tour, declared: "This proves that the so-called third party can become the first party in 1948."

Leo Isacson, the ALP nominee, captured yesterday's 24th district contest easily by rolling up more votes than his three opponents combined.

The Democratic candidate had been expected to win handily, since the 24th district has sent members of that party to Congress for years.

New York state Democratic leaders were sharply interested, not only in Wallace's effectiveness but in the strength of the ALP, an important factor in politics in the state for several years.

Several large labor unions dropped out of the ALP last month after it endorsed Wallace's presidential candidacy. In 1944, the party provided more votes for President Roosevelt than his state-wide margin over Gov. Thomas E. Dewey in the battle for New York's 47 electoral votes.

Isacson, a 38-year-old attorney who will become the second ALP member of Congress, won 22,697 votes. Karl Propper, Democrat, got 12,578; Deal Alfange, Liberal party, 3,840, and Joseph de Nigris, Republican, 1,482.

Discharge Photostats Ruled Out

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Photostatic copies of discharge papers won't be accepted as proof of eligibility for Ohio's World War II bonus.

The state sinking fund commission, which administers the bonus, so ruled again yesterday in turning down a suggestion by State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson that veterans would not be required to risk loss of original discharge papers by sending them with bonus applications.

Ferguson wanted the commission to change its original ruling and allow photostatic copies. But, after considerable discussion, he withdrew his request without demanding a vote "as I'd be the only one to vote for it."

Veterans who have lost their original discharges may file certificates issued by the armed forces "in lieu of original papers."

Bonus Director Chester W. Goble said veterans should record original papers with their county recorder before applying for the bonus.

"This protective service still is provided free by Ohio law," Goble said.

PAPERS PROTECTED

He went into detail on precautionary measures being set up to protect a veteran's original papers. He said they would be received by mail, opened, marked with a claim number, stamped "World War Two compensation applied for," photocopied, and returned along with an acknowledgement and a change of address form.

Bonus application forms will be available next month.

Ferguson and Secretary of State Edward J. Hummel failed in an effort to have bonus checks signed by all five commission members. They were the only ones to favor the proposal. Goble and Comptroller Mayson Hayhurst will sign the checks.

Five-name signing of checks, Hummel said, "is the only way for us (the commission) to retain our identity in paying the bonus." Ferguson said he did not want to delegate his authority.

The commission meets Friday to determine when the bonds will be offered for sale. Members said the sale date would be "sometime in March."

Drops Atom Bomb Prize

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—(UP)—Charles F. Kettering, native of Loudonville and former director of General Motors research, disclosed Tuesday night that he had planned to offer a $15,000 prize for the best plan of defense against atomic attack but was advised not to do it.

His plan would have given the prize money to the scientist developing the best system of defense against the dreaded atom bomb.

Kettering told the committee of 100, an ultra-exclusive organization of millionaire business and professional men, that he believed some defense against the bomb neither had been devised or would be. He did not say who vetoed his idea.

"We are not so stupid as to invent something we cannot control." Kettering said. "If the human race is smart enough to make the atom bomb it is smart enough to design protection against it."

Kettering said the United States will not need to worry about Russia "if we mind our own business."

Officials Issue 'Save Water' Plea; Foresee No Relief for 8 Months

By SHELDON BINN

Mansfield was officially told last night that the water supply crisis is here to stay for the next eight months to a year—and maybe longer.

At a public meeting held in the municipal courtroom, nearly 100 representatives of industry and the city administration heard Mayor Roy W. Vaughn and Sanitary Engineer B. V. BeVier urge every possible measure to conserve the city's meager water supply until the benefits from the Clear Fork project can be realized.

The meeting was called by the mayor when the seriousness of the water shortage was made known to the public by the emergency that arose last week when residents of Woodland and South Boulevards were without water for four hours Friday night and were supplied for the next three days by pressure maintained by a fire department pumper.

LEAKS COST 30 PER CENT

BeVier, who outlined the present water system and what can be expected when the Clear Fork project is completed, revealed that as much as 30 per cent of the water pumped into the city is lost through leaks and unauthorized taps and brings the city no revenue.

Seconding a suggestion made by Stuart Weaver, former city manager of Montclair, N. J., BeVier said a survey should be made as soon as possible to find the leaks and correct them.

But, he said, the engineering staff presently employed by the city is not large enough to do such a job. He pointed out that the city has only one meter reader to read the more than 1,200 water meters in the city of Mansfield.

ENGINEER EXPLAINS PROJECT

During a question-and-answer period, Carl Walker, consulting engineer from the Jennings-Lawrence company, was called upon to explain the Clear Fork project, which he helped design.

He related that the construction work was divided into three phases; the dam, the pumping station and the 24-inch pipe line and the filtration plant.

"We hope that when the new pipeline and pumping station are completed the city will get another 1,500,000 gallons of water daily into the system," Walker said. But, he, as did BeVier and Mayor Vaughn, held no hope for that relief for at least eight months.

Figures quoted by BeVier showed that the total Mansfield water supply from the Maxwell field wells and the Brooker and Hedges well is 7,000,000 gallons a day. An additional 750,000 gallons is available for emergencies from the borrowed well at the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company.

He explained that though the complete pumping capacity is being used, the small 12- and 14-inch pipelines now feeding the city, cannot carry all the water that the wells can supply. The new 24-inch line will help rectify that situation, he said.

But O. C. Kalbfleisch, city water superintendent, pointed out that the present wells are

DON'T WASTE WATER—Water permitted to run like this is increasing Mansfield's critical water situation, Sanitary Engineer B. V. BeVier told a public meeting last night. A drinking fountain of this type, left running at full force, could use 2,950 gallons of water in 24 hours, he said. In homes, a faucet dripping a one-sixteenth inch stream of water can waste 1,368 gallons a day. "We'll be all right if everyone will cooperate and cut out waste," Mayor Roy Vaughn told the nearly 100 citizens at the meeting.—(N-J photo by George Petrovic)

Ask Removal Of Subway Sidewalks

Petition Suggests Pedestrian Tunnel

A petition requesting city council to remove the sidewalks from the Park avenue east subway and to construct a lighted pedestrian tunnel in back of the present wall to improve traffic conditions was presented today to Clerk of Council Charles Stecker.

In addition, the 77 signees, mostly residents of East Mansfield, asked council to change the traffic lights by replacing the west side subway light with a flasher light and to change the position of the traffic light on east side governing traffic on State Routes 30 and 39.

The petition also asked council to erect proper signs and lanes marking the eastbound section of the subway governing traffic from State Routes 30, 39 and 42.

An amendment to the petition suggested that the projection of the Shell Oil station be removed to make it easier for trucks to make turns from State Route 30 to 42.

"This space belongs to the city and not to any private institution," the petition asserted.

Council also received a petition, signed by 25 persons, asking the city to construct a traffic light at the corner of East Third and North Foster streets.

Flight Keeps Plant Going

'Maneuver' Averts Tappan Shutdown

Complete shutdown of the assembly lines at Tappan Stove company was averted last night when a sleek DC-3 was set down on the east-west runway at municipal airport and a waiting truck sped to the factory with the cargo liner's load of 2,500 thermostats.

Because of the steel and gas shortage Tappan suppliers had fallen behind in shipment of usual inventory items. The thermostats were to have left St. Louis by truck last Friday. An ice storm delayed the truck. The shipment finally reached Aurora, Ill., yesterday.

With only 50 thermostats on hand, Tappan officials called Trans World airline in Chicago and the trucking firm in St. Louis. TWA held up the cargo flight until the truck shipment could be rushed to Chicago where it was put aboard the plane and flown into Mansfield at 7:15 p. m. yesterday.

Thomas Ansel, Mansfield manager for TWA, handled local arrangements for the 2,720-pound shipment, largest single cargo arrival at the airport to date.

Tappan officials said today they have been able to maintain production for the past week only by means of air freight shipments of special items from suppliers who have been crippled by shortages. Stove handles have been flown here by TWA from Watertown, Conn., electric clocks from Boston, and automatic clocks from Bridgeport, Conn.

Author Backs Soil Program

DENVER —(INS)— Louis Bromfield, author and farmer of Mansfield, O., says soil conservation is a "must," if the United States is to remain a great power.

Bromfield told delegates to a Denver meeting of the Colorado Association of Soil Conservation districts last night that this country has to retain a sound agricultural base to remain a leading nation.

He asserted that "no nation ever existed for any length of time that did not have an economy built upon agriculture."

Explosion, Fire Injures Three

CLEVELAND—(AP)—An explosion and fire in the linseed oil plant of Sherwin-Williams company burned three men early today.

Sky-Gazers Squint at Planet

Greenish Spots Hint Mars Supports Life

M'DONALD OBSERVATORY, Atop Mt. Locke, Tex.—(INS)—Astronomers got their closest look at the Planet Mars early today as it approached within 63 million miles of the Earth.

Two conclusions were announced by Dr. Gerald P. Kuiper, director of McDonald observatory who said that studies made of the planet thus far do not rule out the existence of life on Mars.

The conclusions are:

1. Green spots on the planet are not vegetation of the highest order known on earth.

If the green spots are vegetation, they probably are lichens, similar to a moss-like vegetation which grows on rocks in the western desert of the United States.

2. Sulphur dioxide, which filters the fatal ultra-violet rays of the sun, is not present on Mars

The absence of sulphur dioxide would make plant life difficult to exist on Mars but would not rule out its existence.

Mars came within 63 million miles of the earth shortly after midnight, the closest approach to the earth in the next two years, and astronomers were busy snapping pictures of the planet at the observatory.

From these photographs, science hopes to penetrate the age old mystery of whether life, as it is known on Earth, exists on Mars.

Dr. Kuiper said that final results of observations made this morning will not be announced until March 1.

Reds Losing Labor Grip

PARIS —(INS)— The Congress of Industrial Organizations came to a virtual parting of the ways with Soviet organized labor in the international field today over the question of supporting the Marshall plan.

The break was signified in a statement by James F. Carey, secretary-treasurer of the CIO, sharply attacking Russia for blocking consideration of the recovery plan by the World Federation of Trade unions.

Carey urged a new meeting of American, British and Soviet Union leaders to reaffirm the original objective of the WFTU regarding European recovery.

Authoritative sources disclosed that March 1 now is being discussed as the date for convening of a special conference of labor union leaders of the western European nations to consider the role of workers in the European recovery program.

Antarctica Fuss Brews

Chile, Britain Claim Region

SANTIGO, Chile —(AP)— Chile's president moved to establish a military base in disputed antarctic territory today after invoking the western hemisphere defense pact to bolster his nation's claims.

While Britain hinted an appeal to the United Nations and Australia weighed sending a warship to the Falklands, Chilean President Gabriel Gonzalez Videla pushed farther south on his spectacular expedition to set up the base on what Chile calls Bernardo O'Higginsland. It is named for the hero of Chilean independence.

The site is on part of the territory known as Grahamland, which is claimed by Britain. It lies astride the Antarctic circle.

Dispatches to the Santiago newspaper Mercurio from the president's ship, the transport Presidente Pinto, quoted Gen. Ramon Canas Montalva, Chilean army chief-of-staff, as saying the president's action is a step toward "building up Chile as a South Pacific power."

"Chile is beginning one of the most decisive visionary policies in its continental mission, facing the Pacific," Canas said.

The British have protested both Chilean and Argentine activities in the Antarctic. The British insist the Falkland administration covers Grahamland, Greenwich and other islands.

The Chilean president landed at Greenwich island yesterday. Addressing Chilean troops there, he declared that any attempt by a foreign power to seize territory claimed by Chile in the Antarctic will be considered an "aggression against all the nations of the Americas."

Car Dealer's Debts High

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Ex-Mansfielder Jack Singleton, jailed used car dealer, was called upon to pay over $729,000—the difference between his known liabilities and assets—in an order filed in bankruptcy court by Attorney Theodore R. Spilka.

In addition, Trustee Morris R. Blane, for whom Spilka filed the order, asked for $19.500 in cash and 15 automobiles whose titles were found among Singleton's records.

The $19,500 represents a $10,000 mortgage loan on Mrs. Singleton's home near Elyria; $6,000 Singleton testified he received for his Cadillac, and $3,500 his wife received for her Buick convertible.

County Road Load Limit Cut In Half

15 Trucks Work To Fill Holes

A 50 per cent reduction in load limits of trucks using county roads became effective today as unseasonably warm weather heaped new problems upon city and county engineering departments.

County commissioners, by resolution, ordered that trucks with pneumatic tires hold their maximum loads to 6,750 pounds per axle and trucks with solid rubber tires to 6,000 pounds per axle.

The load limitation will remain in effect until further order of the board. It was necessitated by soft surfaces on rural roads induced by thawing of ice crusted roads.

County Engineer Walter E. Rusk kept 15 trucks at work hauling stone and gravel to fill holes and ruts on gravel roads. Stones were being placed on the berms of bituminous roads.

Rusk said damage to roads was not unusual but that repairs to bituminous roads would not start until late March when the danger of additional freezing is minimized.

Dirt streets in the city, said E. W. Davis, street superintendent, are in bad condition. Six trucks have been employed to haul slag and gravel to fill holes in dirt streets.

The temperature hit a high of 53 at 3:30 p. m. yesterday, then fell to a 35-degree low at 6:30 a. m. today, causing a light frost.

The balmy weather removed flood threats in the Ohio river valley. Swollen streams returned to their banks and the Ohio itself receded from a crest of 54 feet, two feet above flood stage.

Car Violent When Thief Takes Wheel

CLEVELAND—(U.P.)—Two well-dressed robbers who stole Samuel G. Littke's auto early today got the shock of their lives. And Littke had himself a good laugh.

Littke, a 37-year-old machinist, installed an automatic "burglar alarm" on his car thee years ago and never had a chance to test it in action.

So today he had trouble keeping a straight face when the two robbers stopped him, took over his car and drove away. A few minutes later the burglar alarm went into action.

The engine stopped. The brakes clamped on tightly. The horn began honking intermittently. Two rear lights began a furious blinking.

The two robbers jumped out and ran as from a thing possessed. The auto, blaring away and lighting up like a jukebox, was an easy find for police a few minutes later.

President Outlines Program

Congress Gets Message Today

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman asked Congress for $570,000,000 today for aid to China.

In a special message to the legislators, Mr. Truman said that the aid would be conditioned on China's taking adequate measures to achieve "economic stability and recovery."

The help would begin when Congress voted it and would continue until June 30, 1949—roughly a one-year program.

Mr. Truman said the economic situation in China now is getting worse in spite of the aid the United States has given the Chinese in the past.

The Chinese government and people, he said, "are still laboring under the double and inter-related burden of civil war and a rapidly deteriorating economy."

The war in China is between Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's Nationalist government and Communists.

SEEN AS PEACE AID

Mr. Truman said he thought helping China would help peace. He put it this way:

"The United States has long recognized the importance of a stable Chinese nation to lasting peace in the Pacific and the entire world. The vast size and population of China make her an important factor in world affairs."

The president's program would provide:

1. An appropriation of $510,000,000 that China could draw on (as loans or gifts) and use to buy from other nations things badly needed. How much would be loans and how much gifts was not stated.

2. Another $60,000,000 for "a few selected reconstruction projects to be initiated prior to June 30, 1949."

Mr. Truman said the imports to be financed would include cereals (wheat, rice), cotton, petroleum, fertilizer, tobacco, pharmaceuticals, coal and repair parts for existing capital equipment.

The $60,000,000 would be used to repair roads and railroads, fuel and power plants, and factories which can make things the Chinese could sell to other nations.

Pending establishment of an administrative agency for the European recovery program, the President said, the aid to China should be carried forward under the existing machinery for foreign relief.

Legislation authorizing the Chinese program, he added, should provide for transfer of the China aid administration to the ERP set-up.

Galion Council OK's Boiler Repairs, Asks $25 Pinball Tax

Light Plant Cost Slated At $33,750

Motion Seeks Levy On Juke Boxes, Too

GALION — City council, in a whirlwind session last night, passed legislation to repair a boiler at the municipal light plant and ordered an ordinance drawn up to place a yearly tax of $25 on juke boxes and pinball machines in the city.

In the most important meeting of the new administration, council also authorized purchase of parking meters, passed an ordinance to employ a city engineer and received a request for a pay increase for city police and firemen.

The emergency ordinance directed Service Director John F. Porter to advertise for bids for repairs for the Number One boiler at the electric light plant. Appropriating $33,750, the measure is expected to make the plant more efficient and increase the present capacity.

Porter explained that when all three boilers are put in first class operating condition, any two boilers will be of sufficient capacity to carry the entire load of the plant.

PARKING METERS OK'd

Rules were suspended to pass the ordinance authorizing advertisement for bids for the purchase of parking meters for the city, and enter into contract with the lowest bidder.

An emergency ordinance to employ a city engineer at $3600 per year, payable semi-monthly, was passed.

Councilman Ralph W. Graham requested the city solicitor to draw up necessary legislation to regulate operation of juke boxes and pin-ball machines in the city with a yearly tax of $25 assessed.

Another councilman, O. E. Neal, asked the city solicitor to check on the legality of punch boards in the city and said that he received many criticisms that young boys were playing the slot machines.

The petition from nine policemen and eight firemen of the city, asking for an increase in pay due to high cost of living, was referred to the finance committee.

A request from Scarborough post, American Legion, for permission to build a shelter house estimated to cost between $10,000 and $12,000 was placed on file. A resolution was passed authorizing the Legion post to erect the shelter house on city property at Boise park as a memorial to veterans of all wars, without cost to the city.

The city's debt report presented by City Auditor Carrol Frye showed $509,517 as the total outstanding debt of the city as of Dec. 31, 1947. This represents a decrease from the previous year ending Dec. 31, 1946, when the debt was $535,095.

Buyers Show Resistance

NEW YORK — (AP) — Storekeepers complained today that despite price cuts business had dropped off more than normal for the January season.

Customer resistance is becoming more intense, retailers said. Day-to-day purchasing is becoming common.

Just two years after the big postwar depression with a slump in prices, retail food prices appeared to be readying.

But there was no steadying tendency in the Chicago Commodity markets, where most grains started sliding downward again today.

There was an air of uncertainty and a watchful waiting attitude after the seesawing tactics of the commodity markets.

Stocks were fairly steady at the opening of the New York Stock Exchange.

Grain traders said that the time has come when new crop prospects will be the big factor in setting grain prices. There was no indication that the government intends any immediate resumption of its wheat and flour purchases for export.

Dry Councilman Tests Bar Lights

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—The city council has a member who at 28 says he never has tasted liquor, and it has given him authority to make the rounds of the Los Angeles bars to find out if they're well lighted.

Councilman Kenneth Hahn will be accompanied by the city health officer, George M. Uhl and a police officer carrying a light meter. Council is considering an ordinance requiring brighter lights in bars.

Honor Camp Escaper Back In Custody

Louis Search, Osborn honor camp inmate who escaped from the prison Sunday, was to be returned to Mansfield reformatory today from Columbus where he was apprehended yesterday.

Reformatory officials said Search was received on Sept. 16 last year from Franklin county after he was sentenced to one to 15 years for burglary.

Light Crasher Assessed Costs

Elmer Jarrell of Portsmouth, who "crashed" three red lights in the downtown section early today while a fire alert was on, got off with court costs in municipal court today because of "his ignorance of the law."

Police, who charged Jarrell with unsafe operation of an automobile said he "crashed" red lights on West Third street at Main, Walnut and Mulberry streets at 1:25 a. m.

At that time, one engine from Central station was detailed to the home of R. C. Constance, 620 South Diamond street where the chimney was burning out. No damage was reported.

Jarrell, who told Judge H. H. Schettler he had been in Mansfield only four hours, paid the $7.50 court costs.

State Issues 4 Liquor Permits

The Ohio department of liquor control today announced the granting of permits to four establishments in the Mansfield area.

Richland Recreation, Inc., on U. S. Route 42 in Mifflin township, was granted a night club permit authorizing sale of liquor, beer and wine. Carroll Blamer, owner of the Carrol Inn, on State Route 305 in Springfield township was granted a restaurant liquor and wine permit.

Charles K. Homier, who operates the Oak Park tavern on U. S. Route 30 in Mifflin township will get a liquor and wine permit.

A wholesale beer distributing permit was issued to C. J. Kozak, Crestline.

Man Injured By Protruding Object

M. C. Coluson, 80 Sturges avenue, reported to police yesterday afternoon that he suffered a deep gash on the side of his head when hit by an object protruding from a truck on North Diamond street.

Coluson, who said he had seven stitches taken to close the wound, told officers he was struck while crossing North Diamond between East Third and East Fourth streets.

Police searched for the truck, described only as red, but were unable to find it.

Save Water Plea Issued

producing at capacity and that they cannot be pumped any faster.

He said that the draw down in the wells had lowered in the last year from an average of 15 to 20 feet to 50 and 55 feet.

"The only way that this can be corrected is to take one well at a time out of service and clean and overhaul it. It is obvious that wells operating continuously for the last two years need repair," Kalbfleisch said.

WASTE PREVENTION URGED

Suggestions for helping the city tide itself over for the next year centered largely in prevention of waste at all levels—homes, business houses and factories. BeVier said that in one industrial plant he saw all the drinking fountain faucets running at full force, causing a waste of tens of thousands of gallons of water daily.

He urged private citizens to conserve water in every possible way and asked the cooperation of industry in cutting down waste.

BeVier urged that industry look for a private water supply when possible, pointing out that water suitable for industrial use can be produced at less cost than can the filtered and treated water needed for domestic use. He mentioned that 4,000,000 gallons of water used at the sewage treatment plant could be re-processed for industrial use although it was unsuitable for household purposes.

BeVier's statement brought from M. H. Pryor of the Barnes Manufacturing company the emphatic opinion that the city should plan a water system sufficient for all purposes. "Domestic and industrial water is inseparable," he asserted.

7 Seek State Patrol Posts

Seven applicants for state highway patrolman posts were interviewed in Shelby yesterday by Cpl. J. L. Bishop, head of the Mansfield post.

Men who were issued application forms were: Howard P. Wilson, 23, Shelby, R. D. 3; Edwin M. Hartz, 22, Shelby, R. D. 2; John J. Rietzeld, 23, Shelby; Vernon G. Ferguson, 22, of Shelby, R. D. 3, and Chester E. Lindsay, 22, 638 Lida street, Mansfield.

Cpl. Bishop said the two other applicants were dropped because one was underweight for the position and the other dropped out voluntarily after learning details.

Second recruiting meeting of the area drive will be held Friday evening at the Ashland police station. Saturday afternoon, Cpl. Bishop will be in Loudonville to interview applicants at the mayor's office.

Two Appointed To Cootie Posts

Two Mansfielders, members of Vin Snafu Pup Tent 41, Order of Cooties, have been named to distric posts of the organization.

Thomas T. Posa jr., was elected commander of the newly-formed First Ohio Cootie Council of the 10th district and Charles E. Sanderson was appointed hospital chairman of Zone 8, consisting of seven counties in northern Ohio.

The First Cootie council meeting will be held at the Memorial Building in Mansfield, Feb. 27.

Members of Vin Snafu Pup Tent of Mansfield will attend a "Cootie Scratch" at Marion Sunday, Commander Posa announced today.

Posa said the principal business of the meeting will be veterans' hospitalization.

Selfish Christian Practices Miss Their Mark, Speaker Says

Speaking on "Church Members Who Kindle Fire In Hell," Dr. R. J. Wells told nearly 800 Mansfielders last night that "selfish Christian practices" are missing their mark.

Taking his text from Isaiah, Dr. Wells quoted: "Your iniquities have separated between you and your God, and your sins have hid His face from you, that He will not hear."

"Church members who are feasting on denomination conferences as a substitute for winning men to Christ are falling short of realizing their main purpose as people of the church," the speaker continued.

He said the sins of church members are the sin of indifference, the sin of prayerlessness, the sin of worldliness, and the sin of powerlessness.

"God is still almighty and powerful. He saves, heals and defeats the enemies of the Gospel and of the Cross," Dr. Wells said.

"Most of our difficulties today come from the fact that we have turned our back on God and have let the flesh and the devil rule our lives."

Featured with Dr. Wells on the program were I. Stratton Shufelt of Cleveland who presented two hymns, "Are You Living Where God Answers Prayer?" and "Have I Done My Best for God?"

Rollie Harris, who will perform for Johnny Appleseed pupils today, played the hymn, "Come Thou Fount of Every Blessing" and the "Lords Prayer" on the vibraharp and sleigh bells.

The combined chorus of 60 voices opened the service with the theme: "Cleanse Me," taken from an Australian folk tune which has since been used for the popular sng, "Now Is the Hour."

At 6:45 p. m. today, all teachers and leaders of the youth classes and organizations of the Blue-Tri, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts and Hi-Y are invited to attend a special meeting at the school auditorium.

The Thursday evening meeting will be held in John Simpson auditorium.

Advancement awards were made to James Elmas, Philip Jones, James Zivkoff, Robert Davis, George Nelson, Harper Au, Billy Kostoff, Tommy Gentille, James Walters, Robert Lauer, and William Warren.

Each den in the pack had a display of the hobbies of the members and prizes were awarded for the largest and neatest displays.

Prizes were won by William Warren, Tommy Gentille, Robert Davis, Douglas Zivkoff, George Nelson, Clarence Hamilton, Robert Smith and Charles Merrill.

YW Chooses Its Officers

Miss Betty J. Blackstone, 145 Bartley avenue, was chosen president of the YWCA board last night at the annual election of officers. She succeeds Mrs. Howard Fox, president of the board for the past two years.

Also elected were: Mrs. Stuart Baird, vice president; Miss Dorothy Dann, treasurer, and Mrs. Lionel Smaltz, secretary. All new officers will serve for one year.

A reception honoring the new officers was held immediately following the election. Mrs. Eloise Buchan served as hostess.

Retiring from the board after a maximum service of six years were Mrs. Fox, Mrs. John H. Finefrock and Mrs. A. L. Linder. They were replaced by Mrs. Sam Campbell, Mrs. Harold Neese, Mrs. Glenn Rohleder and Mrs. Lionel Smaltz.

Voting Machine Report Prepared

Thomas R. Zeigler, clerk of the Richland county board of elections, said today he would present to the board at its meeting Friday afternoon a report on voting machines.

The report was requested by the county commissioners after the election board recommended machines be purchased for county-wide use. If the election board approves the report it is expected to be presented to the commissioners.

Story Fails To Hold Up

Howard Wilson, 129 East Fourth street, was fined $50 and costs in municipal court today for illegally discharging firearms. The judge suspended $40 of the fine on good behavior.

He told police that three persons threatened him and told him to go into his house to get money. He claimed he got his gun and fired into the ground to frighten them. Police said investigation showed the three alleged hold-up men were young boys ranging from 10 to 12 years old who knew nothing of the matter.

Four drivers were fined $10 and costs each for speeding. They were Julian Williams, Beach Haven, Pa.; Burt Miller, Lorain; Forrest Swartzwalder, 106 Wood street, and Charles Hoffer, Bellville.

Robert West, 236 Orange street, and Lawrence W. Hutchinson, 327 Newman street, were fined $5 and costs each for failure to display license plates. Both cars had the same license plate, which were issued for West's car, police said.

Sanford White, Shelby, was fined $5 and costs for driving without an operator's permit.

Area Firms Bid on Jobs

Contractors Submit Offers on Road Work

The state highway department yesterday announced tentative low bids on two highway projects in the Mansfield area.

Mansfield, Galion, and Ashland contractors were listed as probable low bidders on highway work in other sections of the state.

John Hill, Mansfield, submitted a low bid of $62,442 on a project in Fayette county. Claude Britton, Galion, submitted two bids of $5,513 each on projects in Huron and Medina counties. Both of Britton's bids exceeded the estimates.

The Ohio Road Improvement company of Columbus bid $76,636 on improvement of about six miles of U. S. Route 250 in Ashland county. The estimated cost is $99,450.

A bid of $91,220 was submitted by the Eagle Construction company, Columbus, on improving 2.57 miles of State Route 298 in Auburn township, Crawford county.

Schools Discard Make-Money Theme For College Education

There is no certainty the bulk of the nation's education is being gained in schools, and there is no question that many individuals are the type who will not "take" to the books in colleges, Prof. Alan Griffin of Ohio State told the members of the Mansfield Rotary club yesterday noon.

Professor Griffin, educated in the Mansfield public schools and a graduate of Mansfield High, at present is on vacation from the College of Education at Ohio State. He and associates are gathering material for a book, as yet unnamed, to be on the presses in about 18 months, dealing on social study.

"The old idea was that a college degree meant more income, because facts proved that boys going through college had more money than those who quit," he said. "Yet the boys who had to quit did so because they didn't have money, so that theory was blasted, because the one who graduated had more money all the way along."

"We need federal money, but the schools should be afraid of any government control of the studies," he suggested, "and I don't know how such action could be handled. You must have professional educators, just as you have professional doctors, dentists, and lawyers."

Some of the worst "rackets" cannot be done away with by a noise-abatement campaign.

"How to be smart and show it," has an attractive sound—but how to be smart and keep quiet about it is also something.

Interest in margarine is becoming so widespread that discussion has been resumed as to whether it should be pronounced with a soft or hard "g."

Mansfield's Outgrown Sewer System

PROPERTY DAMAGE, as well as the worry and work that results from flooded basements, has become a factor in arguing need for prompt action in expanding Mansfield's sewer system to the point of adequately serving a city that has become much larger than was contemplated when present sewer lines were engineered and installed.

Second only to a sufficient water supply, a city's sanitary and storm-water sewer system is another of those "taken-for-granted" conveniences to which little thought is given until it falls short of requirements, as has become the case in Mansfield.

Just how much it will cost to revamp and modernize the city's sewer system, in order to satisfactorily serve present and future needs, is problematical—but this should be recognized as a "must," and all that can be asked is that the problems involved be intelligently handled by responsible officials and their advisers, and that both efficiency and economy be considered in the solution.

First step, it appears, is an engineering survey designed to determine needs, together with an estimate of probable costs, for, as Mayor Vaughn points out, "some way must be found to finance the program before any real progress can be made."

Racketeering Boosts Building Costs

WITH likelihood of the housing shortage continuing uppermost in the minds of many people for a long time to come, some of the elements that tend to discourage home-building appear vitally important.

For instance, an inquiry in Chicago by a subcommittee of the House labor committee has recorded testimony that racketeering in the construction field is a large factor in boosting building costs.

Testimony brought out existence of working agreements among master plumbers, wholesalers and some manufacturers which members of the committee said were in outright violation of law, and it appears that, for painting jobs in Chicago's loop, the paint must be bought through an agent of an AFL union.

In other building work evidence was found that contractors' associations and unions co-operated in enforcing payment of high commissions on sales and installations, and high initiation fees.

Even if the Chicago conditions may be dubbed "the worst in the country," similar situations are being observed in some other large cities, and even smaller cities are not entirely free from questionable practices that prevent many would-be home owners from proceeding with building plans—thus making some old houses salable at fantastic prices.

There is no field in which the need of cost-cuts is more urgent than in the building industry—with fewer hopeful signs at the moment.

Schools Deal With Prejudices

WHEN it is taken into account that Alan Griffin, speaker at yesterday's Rotary club meeting, is himself a product of Mansfield high school (class of 1925), added interest is given to his views on what may be reasonably expected of schools and colleges in the education of today's young people.

Now associated with the College of Education of Ohio State University, Griffin has been a keen student of educational subjects and has developed ability to present his thoughts in a clear way.

Conflict between adult and childhood impressions was presented as the basis for belief of some people that present-day schooling lacks the thoroughness of methods employed a generation or more ago, and emphasis was given to the difficulty of counteracting attitudes and prejudices gained in the home to the extent of assuring decisions reached by judgment based on knowledge, rather than on opinions of either parents, teachers or associates.

Broadest possible spread of educational opportunities, to the extent of individual ability, is urged by Griffin, who sees advantage in federal financial aid in raising educational standards in some areas—but without federal control in operating school systems.

All in all, the subject of "what's wrong with the school system" seems to trace back to "what's wrong" with people in general—and it's interesting to contemplate that today's young people rather accurately reflect the conditions of their era, just as has been true in the past . . . and that their future success or failure is dependent on each of them—as has always been the case.

Does Majority Want Time Change?

SUGGESTION in city council that the matter of changing to daylight saving time be voted on at the May 4 primaries finds similar action being considered in Akron, where council has asked the city law department to prepare an ordinance on the question.

The plan would be to conform to Cleveland's charter amendment which provides for daylight saving time from the last Sunday in April to the last Sunday in September.

Opinion on a spring and fall change of time seems so evenly divided in Mansfield that a vote on the subject would serve to disclose majority wishes—to which a minority would naturally accede.

Tristan da Cunha in the South Atlantic, one of the loneliest spots in the world, is to be brought into touch with civilization. A shipment of food is to include a supply of bubble gum.

What Some Other People Are Saying

HAROLD E. STASSEN, Republican candidate for president: . . . "Major miscalculations by the administration encouraged the major strikes and the inflationary spiral of the last two years."

PHILIP MURRAY, president of the United Steel Workers Union: "We do not intend to strike to enforce our demands for third-round wage increases. We are in excellent position for strong bargaining due to economic factors."

[illegible]N. BRIDGES, chairman of the Senate appropriations committee: . . . "The state department cost estimates for the Marshall plan faces a serious challenge in Congress."

Raymond Moley's Analysis

Crushing Burden On New York's Mayor

MAYOR William O'Dwyer of New York, with rare frankness, has permitted the public to know that he has a serious heart condition. His physician, in the presence of the mayor, has told the press in some detail of "muscular deterioration of the heart," of dizzy spells and of a "disorder of the coronary arteries." The verdict is a reduction of the mayor's activities—fewer outside engagements and shorter hours.

There is a cruel personal tragedy in this. O'Dwyer is almost in the middle of a four years' term. In such a situation, a man can hardly quit and, despite every effort, he cannot greatly reduce his activities.

To leave things undone in his position merely increases his mental strain. To postpone meeting problems permits them to grow in importance and complexity. O'Dwyer is caught in a terrible impasse. He cannot turn back, he cannot stand still, and he goes forward only to a personally dangerous end.

This, however, is more than a personal tragedy. It points out a general defect in this great office and throws light upon our way of conducting government and our manner of living.

In many respects, the office of mayor of New York is the most difficult, although not the most distinguished public post in this country. New York is the world's largest city. It is an immense seaport. It is a great financial center. A dozen other superlatives suggest themselves.

Job Without Future.

GOVERNMENTALLY, New York is five cities in one. It still has county governments and court districts. It has innumerable relations with the state. It is a receiving station for distinguished and undistinguished visitors from abroad.

Of all this the mayor is the official head and supervisor. In addition to all that is prescribed by law, he must generally direct the political organizations in his city. There are five of these. In O'Dwyer's case, the mayor has had to reorganize Tammany Hall. Everybody wants to see him, and nearly everybody does. His doors are swinging 16 hours a day.

And if history is any basis for judgment, his job leads only to death or oblivion. For more than 50 years, no mayor of New York has in a real sense been promoted. The office is politically a dead-end street.

On the other hand, four governors of the state of New York have been nominated for the presidency, and two have been elected. Despite its eminence, the governorship of New York is a relatively easy job. The governor works hard for only about four months in the year.

But the mayor of New York never gets a breather. And the wonder is, considering what the public demands of him, that New York City has any semblance of good government.

The lesson in this is two-fold. First, we have, over the years, stressed centralization of government, without considering the plain fact that a single human being can do only a limited amount of work.

Second, we make hundreds of demands on public officials that have nothing to do with government. The only mayor in 50 years who attempted to sacrifice social and political activities and concentrate on his job, John Purroy Mitchell, was hurled from his job by an avalanche of votes. He was "high hat," the people said.

Sometimes it seems that the American people do not deserve good government.

Taft Strategy Revealed

By THOMAS L. STOKES

CHICAGO — In the mid-western area which is the basis of Senator Robert A. Taft's bid for the Republican presidential nomination, there is clearly revealed the strategy of his campaign.

It revolves about regular Republican organizations and business and financial interests with which they usually are allied. With these Senator Taft has developed effective contacts and he has great influence with them because of his power in Congress.

In come cases the chain of command runs through senators who are closely associated with and beholden to him, down to state organizations in which these senators exercise control of considerable influence.

To support of this sort there is added the Taft organization in the South on which he is relying again this year as he did eight years ago in his almost successful bid for the nomination. At that time a powerful southern boss, Col. R. B. Creager, Texas national committeeman, was his convention floor manager.

Wendell L. Willkie nosed out Senator Taft in 1940 in one of those rare upsets in Republican conventions. There is no Willkie on the scene this year and none in prospect.

Organization leaders are determined that there shall be no such disturbing influence in this year's Philadelphia convention. It was with relief that they saw Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower retire from such a possible role.

But there are candidates who obviously have more popular support than Senator Taft and who might be said more nearly to represent rank-and-file sentiment. Governor Dewey has more widespread popular support and so apparently has Harold Stassen.

Seen As "Best Chance."

AS IT shapes up now, the issue at the convention will be whether the Senate oligarchy and old-line GOP combination is stronger, or whether rank-and-file opinion will predominate.

This convention battle is important because of the big issues at stake this year and because Republicans have the best chance to elect a President since they were retired fro mthe White House in 1932.

As for states the senator visited on his tour, in Illinois he will have a lion's share of delegates, after a probable first-ballot, favorite-son for Gov. Dwight H. Green, because of the support of Col. Robert R. McCormick, Chicago Tribune publisher who dominates the Republican organization.

The senator had dinner with the publisher in Chicago when he stopped there on his way west.

In Indiana, Senator Taft had much strength through the state organization. Minnesota of course will be for Harold Stassen but Senator Taft has support there among old-line GOP elements, which might mean delegates for him should the state eventually break away from Mr. Stassen in convention shifts and developments.

Nebraska offers a fine illustration of the chain of command through a senator—in this case Senator Hugh Butler who controls the state organization. He is an ardent Taft man. In the novel Nebraska preferential primary April 13, in which nine candidates are entered, Senator Taft is expected to run well, with Governor Dewey probably his chief rival.

This is because strong support for Senator Taft by the state organization will give him sure and concentrated strength. The large field will tend to diffuse voting for other candidates. While the primary is not binding on delegates, organization influence also weighs heavily with delegate preference.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Think Price Drop May Avert Depression

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—When news of the stock and commodity market break first reached the White House, President Truman was deeply concerned. He felt it might start wholesale dumping of securities by frenzied investors, which in turn might touch off an economic depression.

However, after the council of economic advisers had surveyed the market and reported to him in detail, Truman told one close adviser:

"I am now glad it happened—for two reasons. First, we scared a lot of speculators out of the grain market, and, second, prices are coming down to a level where they will be governed more by the law of supply and demand. That's where they should be."

The White House economic surveys show several significant things. Most important to the housewife is that the somewhat hysterical reductions in retail prices are the result of grocers' psychology. Actually, cheaper raw commodities couldn't possibly be passed down the line to bread and meat for several weeks.

However, grocers have been scared into price reductions by headlines and the threat of competition. They are gambling on lower prices in their next wholesale shipment. Also the stocks of food on their shelves have increased—due to high prices and the fact that he housewife has simply cut down on her buying.

Another significant factor is that the stock market has remained fairly stable compared with the commodity market. In other words, commodities were price-heavy and toppled.

Presidential economic advisers have reported to Truman that there is little likelihood that the break in commodity prices will spread generally to industrial prices.

Farm Income Taxes.

ONE cause for the commodity break was the flood of wheat which farmers sent to market after January 1. They had been holding back (1) for higher prices and (2) for income-tax reductions.

Since both Republicans and Democrats have now come out in favor of tax reductions, farmers felt it was safe to let their hoarded wheat go to market. A lot of them let loose at the same time, hence the deluge.

Another reason for the grain-market decline is the law, recently passed by the Republican Congress, requiring the administration to hold 150,000,000 bushels of grain in this country as protection against future crop failure.

With the prospects of a good crop, this 150,000,000 reserve bushels is bound to have a depressing influence on grain prices.

In brief, Truman's advisers have informed him that the commodity nose dive is more likely to avert rather than cause a depression. Commodity prices, formerly resting on empty clouds, have now come back at least to the mountain peaks.

Note—Secretary Anderson has been conferring all week with his parity experts in preparation for buying up grain if and when it hits 90 per cent of parity. However, not many farmers will be affected by this, since most wheat is already out of their hands and sold to speculators. The law requires the agriculture department to buy direct from producers, not from speculators.

Dr. Parran's Exit.

THE announcement of Dr. Thomas Parran's exit as surgeon general was carefully wrapped in cotton wool so it wouldn't appear that he was being fired. But the inside fact was that he joined the long line of staunch Roosevelt career men whom Truman has recently liquidated.

Not only did Mr. Parran have a great record in the public health service, but he had been an intimate, personal friend of FDR, having worked with Roosevelt when he was governor of New York state. It was Parran who had the courage to call a spade a spade when it came to venereal disease and launch a nation-wide campaign against it.

He was fired as surgeon general, however, solely on the advice of one politician — Oscar Ewing, former vice-chairman of the Democratic national committee, now chief of the federal security agency, of which the public health service is a part.

Parran had refused to let Ewing run the public health service and so got the meat-ax.

Note—Republicans are increasingly gleeful and Democrats increasingly sour over the way Truman talks about Roosevelt policies—on paper—then undercuts them when it comes to picking men to carry them out.

Merry-Go-Round

PRESIDENT TRUMAN has been promised that at least one prominent Republican senator will be a surprise guest at the Democrats' Jefferson day dinner this week. Senator Langer of North Dakota has a ticket . . . George Meany, shrewd AFL executive secretary, will run the AFL's political action committee now that ex-Sen. Burt Wheeler dropped out. . . . Friends of Governor Dewey believe that Taft is whistling in the dark when he claims the Solid South. Dewey has just received word that a confidential poll of Alabama's Republicans gives him 42 votes as against only 17 for Taft. . . . The Yugoslav government has retained John Pehle, ex-aide to Henry Morgenthau, to persuade the treasury department to turn loose more than $40,000,000 worth of Yugoslav gold which the treasury is still holding. . . . Counting political chickens before they hatch, Harold Stassen's backers predict he will win Wisconsin in the April Republican primaries—even though MacArthur is rated there as a native son.

Washington Calling

Question: 'What Next'?

By MARQUIS CHILDS

ALL the economic prognosticators, both amateur and professional, have now had a shot at explaining the slump in the markets. So have the politicians who tailor the facts to suit their own purposes.

After much study and pondering within the President's Council of Economic Advisers, the conclusion has been reached that the situation is still fundamentally sound. But having uttered that phrase, or an approximation of it, the President's economic seers realized that it had an unhappily familiar ring. It was what unhappy Herbert Hoover began to say in 1930.

"Nevertheless, the council does believe the situation is fundamentally sound. There is not the slightest reason, in fact or in logic, for a depression.

Unsatisfied demand is still great for everything produced by industry and the farmer. Income remains, up to the present moment, at a phenomenally high level and unemployment is correspondingly low. There is a vast store of public projects that are essential and they can be pushed when and if prices drop on necessary materials.

When they have said this much, however, the President's experts add one or two reservations. There is the fact that firms are running out of their own money to pay for expansion. Will they seek outside capital and, if they do seek it, will it be forthcoming? On the answer to this double-barreled question a great deal may turn.

The second precaution has to do with the American temperament. Americans have a low emotional boiling point. The word the experts use in their discussions is "volatile," which the college Standard dictionary defines as "easily influenced, fickle, changeable."

The boiling-point is particularly low in an election year. Charges fly back and forth, as they have in the controversy over who shot down the high-price balloon. Politics, so far as the economic high priests can discover, had little to do with the slump.

Taft Was Right.

INVESTIGATION into speculation in the commodity markets may have had the effect of scaring people into getting out. Thereby the backlog of money to support the market may have been reduced. But one actor alone—better crop reports from around the world—could explain what happened.

The only person I know of who seems to have understood that something was about to happen is Senator Robert A. Taft. This column owes Senator Taft an apology for jeering at the statement he made before a Republican policy session suggesting that commodity prices were beginning to level off.

What happened could hardly be described as leveling off, but no one can dispute that prices went down. How Taft knew this would happen is something else again, for many of his colleagues who heard him make his statement in January were skeptical or contemptuous.

While it was obvious that spiralling prices would eventually produce a break, most of the prophets had foreseen a continuing rise until June.

If the break proves to be no more than a "corrective recession," then it will be a healthy thing. Lower prices would mean a far healthier economy. Prices are particularly important in relation to housing.

Should building prices go on climbing, then prospective buyers will be forced out of the market, no matter how desperate their need for a place to live. This one factor alone might decide whether it is to be recession or depression.

The third round of wage increases is equally important. Most union leaders indicated at the beginning of the break that they would go through with their demands. But if in four or five weeks there is a real reflection of the break in the cost of living, perhaps better sense will prevail. The pent-up demand from the rank and file of trade unionists might be satisfied with long-term gains in pension plans and paid vacations.

Farmer's Diary

Food To Remember!

By CALVIN A. BYERS

I FEEL out of place in these porcelain-white culinary laboratories that big manufacturers have foisted on us lately in the name of "modern kitchens." A kitchen ought to be the homiest, most comfortable room in the house. It ought to have color and vista, quaint dignity and charm, personality plus!

One memorable kitchen I have known was in a cabin home located among big trees along a lake in the far Northwest. The house was made of square-hewn logs salvaged from an old railroad trestle. The owner had floated them down by lake and river to his own small stretch of beach and put up the house himself—four rooms with an attic above and a woodshed beyond the back porch along the rear.

It wasn't "modern." There were coal-oil lamps and a squatty old wood-burning cookstove with a mammoth woodbox. There was no bathroom nor kitchen sink. Just an outhouse, and a pail on a wide shelf with a dipper beside it. Also a wash basin, a foot tub and a big roller towel. The old chain cistern pump was on the back porch, the well was a step or two farther out toward the barn, with a half hogshead beneath the outlet to catch the overflow and make it easy to water the horse and cow.

I remember being surprised and somewhat ashamed of my huge appetite that summer. The large family's regular fare consisted of home-baked bread, home-made butter, garden truck and berries; there were 100 hens for eggs and meat; there were several smoked hams, also home-cured; there was occasional venison or fresh brook trout.

The flour was ground wholewheat. The cow wore a bell and grazed over a mountain side and along a dashing trout stream in a lowland grass patch. I helped to cut and haul in hay for her winter fare. It had to be done with a scythe between stumps 8 to 14 feet across, and we hauled it in on a one-horse sled because the ground was uneven and bumpy and the stumps were close together.

Every morning we picked berries—strawberries in season, then blackcaps from long rows in a clearing behind the house, and green peas—hampers full, for market. Wild deer came down to graze at one end of the patch while we worked at the other end. What flavor those berries had! And no wonder! They were genuine "first fruits" of virgin soil.

I suppose I have not been so well-fed since. And I remember with a real nostalgic pang that homely kitchen, with its wide floor boards and the battered copper teakettle that sent out clouds of steam when we came in hungry, after a peal from the dinner bell.

Few Vets Ask Compensation

Only one of every 12 veterans in the Mansfield area has drawn unemployment compensation under the GI bill of rights, C W Handley, manager of the Ohio State Employment office, said today.

"We have only 75 veterans now who are drawing benefits under the '52-20 club' plan," Handley said. The county has about 9,000 veterans of World War II

The Ohio average is higher with about three of every 10 vets drawing compensation said Frank J Collopy, administrator of the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation

Helpful Hints On Furnishing a Home

By ROSEMARY MYERS

Today let's talk about one of the most popular rooms in the home—the kitchen.

What is the most exciting fashion news in kitchens this spring?- FLOWERS! That's the story—Flowers, so pick your favorite posy—be it Daisy, Poppy, Geranium, Morning Glory, Marigold, or English Ivy—and let it bloom merrily in vines, pots, and bouquets on your wallpaper in the kitchen, from your canister sets, your curtains, and even the tops of the new plastic-top breakfast sets made by Daystrom. Also let the enchanting new flower color linoleums and kitchen accessories bring new life to a drab, dreary kitchen.

To start your ideas perking, we've selected four favorite kitchen colors: Red, Blue, Yellow and Green, as the basic schemes for your flower kitchens. These are standard gay colors so you'll be able to find scads of kitchen accessories and gadgets to fit into your decorative scheme. These wonderful garden colors form a bright contrast to the gleaming white of your kitchen appliances, and cupboards.

To give your kitchen that custom built look, we suggest that you'll find nothing better than Youngstown Steel Kitchen units. Whatever the size of your kitchen, whether you plan to remodel or build, you can have your heart's desire in sparkling white-enameled steel wall cabinets, spacious work surfaces in base cabinets, and a step-saving cabinet sink with acid-resisting porcelain enamel top. All models of these sinks feature a streamlined swinging mixing-faucet, fully automatic spray attachment, wonderfully wide fluted drain boards, gorgeous chrome-plated handles and enormous storage areas—giving room for cutlery and supplies without helterskelter cramming. Also, there's a stamped steel removable soap rack on the back of the under-cabinet door.

Youngstown "Kitchenaider" sinks are a masterpiece of design—practically a kitchen in itself. In fact, if your budget is extra modest, you can get your Kitchenaider cabinet sink first and complete the rest of your kitchen plans later on.

But, complete Youngstown kitchen units, fitted to your wall and floor area cost far less than you would guess. You can work out any pet plan of your own, and it can be installed in a new house or old, without costly alterations or remodeling—and will set the neighborhood buzzing with excitement! But more important, it will be the pride and joy of you and your family for years.

Of course, you can see the Youngstown kitchen units on display at the Myers Furniture Co. in Bellville, and they will be glad to work out a kitchen plan with you, to make your kitchen more space-saving and compact.

Myers also carries a complete line of Norge and General Electric appliances, including water heaters, electric ranges, refrigerators, disposals, electric sinks, washing machines, automatic G.E. washers, Deep Freeze units and sweepers.

If you are planning on remodeling your kitchen or laundry this spring—drive to Myers in Bellville and talk over your plans with them. They are open daily 'til 9 P.M.

Here's a good schedule for cleaning linoleum: Dust daily. Damp mop with plain water once a week. Scrub with mild soap and water two or three times a year. Wax every two weeks. Use little water when mopping your floor, as the excess tends to seep through the edges or openings in the seams, causing mildewing or rotting of the backing material.

Horoscope

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, February 18.

Some strange, unaccountable, even fantastic or unique visitation, in a critical situation of far-reaching consequence, might be responsible for such sudden lurch in the wheel of destiny as to bring about a complete reversal of the complicated and dubious state of affairs. While it is possible that this occurence might prove disastrous and fatal, it could also beget a dramatic success and swerve the whole thing into high gear and breath-taking adventure and profit. Shrewd and practical grasp at the right moment would stabilize wobbling plans and programs. Exceptional factors challenge.

Those whose birthday it is stand at the eve of a dramatic or critical stage of affairs, the outcome of which depends on the degree of shrewdness and alertness to peculiar conditions which are exercised. There are subtle and unpredictable undercurrents challenging the wise use of unique faculties, urges, or ideals as well as the application of ingenuity, unusual skill and executive ability. This in crises of more than commonplace and dramatic significance. Funds and goals as well as friends and foes, gain and loss, piqué ingenuity and judgment. Study carefully, act cautiously, but daringly.

The local office formerly had jurisdiction only in Richland, Knox and Ashland counties.

Enlistment of the following men for initial duty at Fort Jackson, S. C., was announced:

John W. Wilkins, Gray street; Gene T. Hall, Mansfield; Allen A. Henke, 462½ Bowman street; Ray L. Evans, Mansfield; Silas Adkins, Mansfield; John A. Drake, Mansfield; Robert A. Smallwood, Fredericktown; Raymond E. Butricks, Galion; Richard Thompson, Nankin and James T. Queen, Bucyrus.

Party Money Aids Europe

Because their mothers rallied to the call, Girl Scouts of Troop 24 held a valentine party which didn't delete their overseas charity fund. The mothers furnished the ice cream and trimmings. The money usually spent for food was added to the troop fund for CARE packages.

Hostess mothers were Mrs. Michael Pirrgo, Mrs. J. K. DeYarman and Mrs. John Schroeder. They assisted Mrs. Sam Theaker at whose home the party was held Saturday night.

Neither did troop members buy valentines. The money that would have been spent for such purchases also was added to the CARE fund, making a total of $10 the troop has assembled.

At present, troop members are working on "My Country" badge and exchanging letters with Troop No. 19 at South Gate, Calif. A troop meeting will be held next Tuesday at the Theaker residence, 304 Glessner avenue.

Third Round Comes Up In Quarrel Over Foreign Policy Discussions

I FEEL some diffidence about continuing my debate with the editors of the Cincinnati Enquirer on the subject of my competence to discuss foreign policy. They brought it up. I answered. They answered back, leaving some unfinished business. If this were only a bout of repartee I would let them have the last word and change the subject.

It is more than that, however, so it is not vanity that prompts me to try to round out the discussion. Who has the right to discuss foreign policy? I don't mean the mere constitutional right. I mean what they mean. Who is qualified to discuss it?

I turn to the Enquirer's attempt to expunge a damned spot. The Enquirer would have left foreign policy to the men of both parties who have made a prayerful study of this terribly intricate business.

Who, for instance? I asked. And I named, for a few, Joe Davies, William E. Dodd, Harry Hopkins, George Marshall and Senator Vandenberg.

Could my foreign policy possibly be worse than theirs? All except Dodd were in a position to know, and probably did know, most of the terrible facts of the Stalin-Hitler alliance for aggressive and utterly predatory war, and yet, all of them, as long as life has lasted, except Marshall, concealed those facts from the American people to this day. Marshall finally made them known only as an attempt to justify another foray, inevitably to become a war, into European politics, which is the best he could evolve after all his prayerful study. It was not out of consideration for the right of the American people who earn the taxes to finance his "plan" that Marshall made this belated revelation. As far as those rights were concerned, these facts might have remained secret forever.

The Enquirer says that, in mentioning Davies, Dodd and Hopkins, I "dragged in several straw men." I am glad that I am not stuck with such a feeble argument, for it is impossible to discuss this country's course toward the latest war and our relations with Stalin, after Pearl Harbor, without giving serious thought to the official conduct, the predilections and the character of these men.

I notice that "Fidelity to the Trust We Assume" is a solemn pledge of The Enquirer on its masthead. I take it, therefore, that the Enquirer demands "fidelity" as a basic trait in public men. So do I, in all affairs, personal as well as professional and political.

Editors and some other journalists have an advantage of the general public in imponderable information about public men and I am sure the editors of The Enquirer are not in the dark.

A President, selecting an ambassador, will have in mind personal qualities and unofficial considerations which he will not present to the Senate, because they are too sensitive for discussion. The Senate may rely on equally delicate reasons for rejecting him, and forbear to state them

Do the sensitive qualities of those three commend them for the responsibilities that Roosevelt gave them?

Smiling Important, Crowd Told

Speaker Calls For Pleasing Salespeople

Learning to smile is the most important thing we can do, 700 Mansfield salespeople were told last night at the second session of the Retail Sales Institute at John Simpson junior high school.

The advice came from Ed. Hegarty, Mansfield appliance sales training manager, who spoke on "The Language of Selling."

"Your smile is the most important stock in trade you have. Of course, the smile should start with the boss," Hegarty said.

Hegarty then called for an audience-participation routine. First, he had everyone frown three times. To accomplish this he told his audience: "Think I'm the landlord. Your mother-in-law. The boss."

"It's easier to smile than frown," Hegarty asserted. Why in the world when I go into a store do I find a sourpuss behind the counter?"

"You're the architect of your sales ability. Salespeople make themselves by going to meetings like these," Hegarty said.

Hegarty explained that the biggest tool of the salesperson in selling was language.

SIMPLE WORDS BEST

He added: "Tell it simply—in words of one syllable. Don't try to put on You're more certain to make yourself understood by using one-syllable words" He cautioned against getting technical in explaining the product

He advised: "Bring out the good things about the product Tell me what you have to offer me"

Hegarty said that when he goes into a store to buy he wants the salesman to tell him something about the article.

Another Hegarty rule is "Accentuate the Positive" Hegarty explained he went out to buy a coffee-maker Salesmen in several stores told him they had "only Silexes"

But the salesman in the fifth store sold him with. "mister, you're lucky, I've got a Silex."

A movie on "Tell-All" tags was shown

Among the five things the tell-all tag does for a salesman were: 1. Helps the salesman get started right in selling the customer; 2. Answers the customer's questions; 3. Helps prove what the salesman has said; 4. Helps compare your product with others, and 5. Helps salesman train himself.

Carlton Fernyak, vice president of the Retail Merchants association, presided.

Tax Payments Due Friday

The county treasurer's office has $349,919 to collect in real estate taxes today through Friday, and Treasurer Charles C Payne urged that payments be made by mail.

Payne said that letters, containing payments with a Friday postmark would be accepted without penalty.

He said yesterday s first-half 1947 real estate collection totaled $31,800, to bring total payments to $692,110 The charge is $1,041,029.

Payne said that some 1,500 letters, containing payments, were still to be opened, and would boost collections considerably.

Federal Aid Seen As Freedom Threat

Federal school aid is more costly in the end than state and local financing and could become a a threat to the freedom of the American educational system, Rev. David N. Roller of the First Presbyterian church said last night at a meeting of the Mansfield Parent-Teacher council.

He spoke at a P-TA council Founder's day tea at the First Presbyterian church. He discussed the bills now in Congress to provide federal aid to schools.

The pastor emphasized the importance of keeping central control of the school at home rather than permit it to go to Washington.

The council announced it would present the Edwin Strawbridge production "Simple Simon," for school pupils April 13 and 14 The play will be given matinee and evening April 13, at Johnny Appleseed school and in the afternoon and evening April 14 at John Simpson junior high school

NAMED DELEGATE

Mrs Edwin Pankow was chosen a delegate to the national P-TA convention in Cleveland May 24 to 26

Mrs. Warren Fort, program chairman, presented an outline of the objectives of the P-TA.

Miss Ellena Percy, teacher at Johnny Appleseed junior high school, presented Carol Ann Fenn in a piano solo and Carol Newton in two accordion numbers.

Teachers Win Praise

Work by the English council of Mansfield schools in constructing two English usage tests for the district state scholarship testing program has received high praise from a state education official

The praise came from Ray G Wood, director of the Ohio Scholarship Tests, who expressed his approval of the work done by Council members here.

The task of gathering material and compiling the tests involved a tremendous amount of work, Supt. of Schools W. L. Miller said. First of all, Council members had to establish initial tests, giving tests to pupils, correcting them for errors and revising the tests for validity and permanent use.

Completion of the job involved many hours of extra work for Council members Wood said in his report that "to my knowledge no set of tests has been more thoroughly compiled and validated"

These tests will be used in the 1950 scholarship tests throughout the state

Executive committee members of the English Council here include Miss Florence Shires, Miss Alice Kirkwood, Miss Dorothy Poling and Miss Louise Lynch They work with Dr Edwin Fensch, director of research for city schools.

Leveling Off In Juvenile Cases Noted

Judge Says War-time Hysteria Decreasing

A "leveling off" in the number of juvenile delinquency in Richland county was reported yesterday to members of the Exchange club at their luncheon meeting in the Sky club.

Probate-Juvenile Judge Stuart H. Cramer, delivering the first annual Exchange-sponsored Crime prevention week address, said "official juvenile delinquency cases, which rose from a low of 99 in 1940 to a high of 262 in 1945, dropped to 137 in 1947."

"It looks," he observed, "like we are leveling off in the number of official cases. There has been no let-down in enforcement, but rather the war-time hysteria has decreased"

Emphasis in combating juvenile delinquency should be placed on prevention rather than on the millions spent for correctional institutions, he asserted.

LOOK FOR CAUSES

"The juvenile court is not a police court for children," the Judge emphasized "When faced with an offense we look for the causes of this unsocial behavior and try to repair them.

"We had nine failures last year. We had to send six boys to Lancaster Boys school and three girls to Delaware School for Girls because we were unable to find ways and means to adjust these youngsters to normal social relations"

He deplored the lack of facilities for handling cases of youths temporarily detained by officials

"The court has three small rooms at the Salvation Army which must serve for all its purposes," he explained. "It lacks the full-time services of a physician and has no services of a psychiatrist.

"It would be an invaluable aid to the judge in rendering his verdict," Cramer said, "to have before him knowledge as to whether or not the youngster has a physical or mental defect which is accountable in some degree for his behavior

"Larger counties, such as Cuyahoga, have these facilities and are doing a fine job. I look forward to the day when we can do the same."

Summing up the causes for the unsocial behavior of children, Judge Cramer named the following points·

1 "We must look at the whole behavior pattern of society when seeking the cause of juvenile offenses

2. "Parents of juvenile offenders are often found to be limited in their ability to cope with the problems

3 "In more than 90 per cent of the official juvenile cases, the child was found to have no religious connection.

4 "Truancy is the root of many serious juvenile problems

5 "The blame for juvenile delinquency is to be placed at the feet of society in general and not upon any one group or groups We have created conditions which we ourselves did not have to face

The road to improvement lies as children."

in preventative measures rather than correction after the damage has been done, Judge Cramer concluded

Fire In Foundry Here Causes Slight Damage

Fire of underterbined origin caused slight damage to the interior of a small foundry owned by Andrew Kovacs, rear of 451 Daisy street, at 4 45 p m yesterday

Firemen from Central and No 2 stations, who answered the alarm, said the fire started on a bench and spread to the ceiling.

'THE DAY STAR'—

Mansfielders may soon be introduced to a new hymn, written by a Mansfielder. Mrs. R. L. Gutterman, co-director of the Volunteers of America, said today that her first song, "The Day Star," will be sent for copyrighting next week and that she will submit it to publishers after that. The song, which Mrs Gutterman said, came to her during her recent illness, was inspired by the 19th verse in first chapter, second Peter, in which the apostle entreated the Christians to allow "the day star arise in your hearts."

SHOW CONTINUES—

BUSY SINCE 1918—

This year probably will be the "swan song" for Mrs. Zetta McCollough of Butler as far as Red cross campaigns are concerned. Meeting Monday with volunteer workers at Lexington Presbyterian church, Mrs. McCollough said she had worked as head of the Butler committee every year since 1918 except for one year. "When I started I had four small children to care for" she said "But I've enjoyed it every year However, I think I've had about enough It's time someone else took over"

Lexington Is Team to Beat In Tourney

(News-Journal Sports Editor)

DICK LOGAN, Senior high school's All-America tackle, will have a slight problem next August. . . . He will automatically be invited to the Ohio all-star high school game in August, but is now awaiting word about the proposed east-west All-America game. . . . Promoters are looking for a suitable site for the latter game which will be staged the third week in August. . . . The Cleveland Browns have transferred three players to the Chicago Rockets. . . . The All-America conference is trying to build the Rockets up to where they can compete with the Bears and Cardinals for Chicago patronage. . . . The transferred Brown trio includes: Roman Piskor, who played for the Browns last year; Pete Ashbaugh, Notre Dame quarterback and John Rapacz, Oklahoma center. . . . Carl Snavely, North Carolina; Bobby Dodd, Georgia Tech, and Bob Neyland, Tennessee, are the three coaches who have been mentioned for the Los Angeles Dons head mentor jobs . . . Findley and Middletown are the teams which put the "class" in the Ohio Class A cage ranks. . . . The two powers have won 17 and 15 straight. . . . Akron Garfield, the other unbeaten "A" team, has copped 12 in a row.

MICHIGAN has a chance to become the first school in 18 years to win both Western conference football and basketball titles during the same season. . . . Purdue last turned the trick, annexing the grid title in 1929 and taking the basketball crown in 1930. . . . Ohio State's Dick Schnittiker is now only two points away from Jimmy Hull's scoring record of 269 tallies. . . . Spiro Dellerba, Cleveland Browns fullback, has enrolled in Miami U. for the spring quarter.

TWO AKRON HIGH school teams will play an exhibition basketball game Friday night using a penalty box experimental system. . . . Under the rules to be used, a single foul will result in a 30-second trip to the penalty box. A double foul calls for a one-minute suspension. . . . A team will not be required to play with less than three men, and the short-handed team will be allowed to use the full court with temporary suspension of the back-court rule.

Two Games Open 1948 County Meet

By GAYLE HAYES

Lexington is the team to beat for the Richland county basketball tournament title, but most of the coaches in the league predict a wide open race, with every team in the conference having some support.

The tournament, which opens tonight on the Mansfield Senior high floor, pits Lexington against Bellville at 7:30 p. m., and Ontario against Shiloh at 8:30. Ontario is a heavy favorite to pass its first test, although Shiloh has shown marked improvement in recent weeks.

Butler has strong support, since the team boasted the strongest offensive and defensive records in the entire league. Sam Roberts was named the top defensive man in the league in a poll of coaches, and Myron Collier was ranked as one of the loop's outstanding men. Butler will not play until tomorrow night, meeting Lucas at 7:30. Plymouth and Union meet in the 8:30 game tomorrow.

PLYMOUTH DARK HORSE

Plymouth is given the rating of the dark horse. Led by Cornelius Vanderbilt, Plymouth won eight and lost six games, but had the third-best scoring team in the loop and a solid defense.

All the teams will be playing on a neutral floor, and one larger than they played their regular season games on this year. The large floor may be a handicap for most of them this week.

Lexington won the conference title with 12 victories and two losses, and also will defend the tournament title won last season, when the Minutemen staged a scorching rally to beat Butler, 41-40 in the closing moments. Butler was in front, 40-38, when the Minutemen put on their tourney-winning drive.

Lexington has the top scorer of the circuit in Rollin Ford, who was named on the News-Journal all-county team and also selected at the No. 1 scoring star of the league.

Experts who have seen all the teams play this year considered every team a threat, although Lexington, Butler and Plymouth have drawn the most support.

THE BIG THREE

"You gotta string along with the big three, but any team—even Shiloh—can win this tournament," one of the followers stated last night. "I don't ever remember a tournament coming up with such a well-balanced field."

The gym will be opened at 6 p. m. tonight, with no season tickets being sold, and no reserved tickets. The winners of the Lexington-Bellville and Ontario-Shiloh games will play at 7:30 Friday night, with the Butler-Lucas and Plymouth-Union victors clashing at 8:30. The two losers of Friday's games play in the consolation game Saturday at 8 p. m., and the title game is scheduled for 9 o'clock Saturday night.

Lexington lost only to Bellville and Butler during the regular season, losing to the Bluejays, 37-30, but gaining revenge, 51-35. Ontario drubbed Shiloh in both meetings, 49-22 and 48-26, while Butler took both from Lucas, 49-28 and 52-34.

Plymouth outscored Union in both meetings, 56-36 and 45-28.

Will Assist Lefty

CLEVELAND — (U.P.) — Wally Bock, trainer of the Cleveland Brown's football team, has accepted a part-time job as assistant to Trainer Lefty Weisman of the Cleveland Indians.

Here's A Guy Who Is Really Happy About Being 'All Wet'

Let the rain or sleet come; it won't mean a thing if you are wearing one of our water repellent topcoats. With Spring only a short time away, these tough, weather tested topcoats are just the thing for in-between bad weather.

They not only throw an "iron curtain" around you when the weather gets rough but they can stand all the hard wear you can give them whether it is while driving or while you wear them on your daily job.

Styled to perfection and made for men who want a GOOD topcoat.

Carbetta Resumes Pro Ring Career Tonight In Akron

Paul Carbetta, veteran Mansfield featherweight, resumes his oft-interrupted professional fisticuff career tonight in Akron.

And once again Paul will give away weight. This time to 132-pound Tony LaRocca, a Cleveland lad who has been around. Carbetta has been tipping the scales at 124 pounds in recent workouts at the Friendly House.

The LaRocca-Carbetta bout will be over the five-round route and will be one of two preliminary goes. Three eight-round affairs share the spotlight.

Carbetta has been idle since June 6, 1947 when he suffered a dislocated hip in a bout with Pat Iacobucci in Cincinnati. Three months before that battle, Carbetta broke his hand on Freddie Latson in Kansas City.

Paul has won 22 of 28 pro bouts, losing his last four starts. He turned pro in 1942. He has been working out since late November.

Veeck Certain He'll Sign Hank

CLEVELAND —(INS)— Bill Veeck, president of the Cleveland Indians, is confident that Hank Greenberg's presence today in Phoenix, Ariz., is another indication that the former home run king of the majors will sign with the Tribe.

"We still need another coach and I've talked to nobody but Hank about the job," Veeck said. "I feel pretty sure that when the camp opens we'll have that third coach."

6 Friendly House Boxers Go Tonight

A sextet of Friendly House boxers will compete tonight in an amateur ring show in Marion.

The F-H team includes: Don Esbenshade, middleweight; Bill Eccles, heavyweight; Howard Carney and Gene Ayers, featherweights; Kenny Berry and Bruce Weirich, welterweights.

Esbenshade and Carney won championships in the recent Friendly House-40 et 8 club amateur tournament.

Madison Game With Canton Cancelled

CANTON — Officials of Canton township high school today called off Friday's basketball game with Mansfield Madison here.

An epidemic of 30 cases of scarlet fever caused postponement of last night's game with Newcomerstown as well as the Friday fracas.

Canton township has won 16 of 17 games while Madison boasts 15 victories in 16 games. The Madison team does not resume action until next Wednesday when it goes to Columbus Linden McKinley.

Canton has now concluded its pre-tournament competition and is regarded as a darkhorse for state championship honors.

Who Has Button?

NEW YORK — (AP) — Baseball's newest controversy — touched off by Brooklyn Branch Rickey's charges that the other 15 big league clubs voted to bar Negroes from the majors—took on the complexion of the old button game today. Everybody was asking:

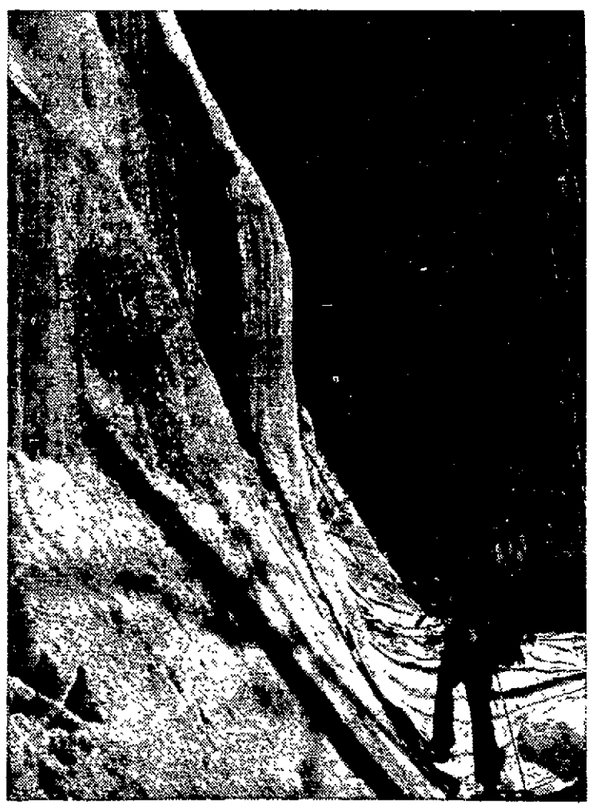
TRAIL SKIING NEAR QUEBEC CITY



This interesting winter phenomenon, known as the "Ice Falls," was photographed on one of the many trails of the new ski mecca near Mont Ste. Anne, less than 30 miles northeast of Quebec City. Skiers of all ages have been finding the joy of a 5 to 10 mile jaunt on skis through one of the most scenic countries in the world.—Adv.

3—In Memoriam

IN REMEMBRANCE of Henry Leon Duncan
One year ago you passed away,
Without a last farewell.
It filled my heart with sadness dear,
My eyes were filled with tears.

An empty space is in my heart,
That no one else can fill.
I miss you at the evening
When the nights are growing chilled,

I loved you dear as only a mother could.
Love one who was so dear to her,
Somehow God had need of you,
And called you home above.
Sadly missed by the Family,

Anti-Alcoholism Drive Planned

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—A meeting to start planning Ohio's fight against alcoholism will be held here March 22 to 23, Dr. Edward J. Humphreys, state acting mental hygiene chief, has announced.

The hygiene chief said his department was getting calls from people every day on alcoholic problems and "we don't know where to turn."

"Our final objective in this conference will be the establishment of separate facilities for treatment and counseling of alcoholics."

GRID SPEAKER — Bill Edwards, Cleveland Browns tackle coach, will speak at the Moose lodge open house tomorrow at 8 p. m. He will show the new Browns' movie, "Meet the Browns."

Township Sets Road Meeting

The annual road meeting of township trustees with the county commissioners and other county officials has been set for March 11 at 9:30 a. m. in First Methodist church.

County Engineer Walter E. Rusk said speakers will be Prosecutor Theodore Lutz, Auditor Norman L. Wolfe and representatives of the state fire marshal and the audit bureau.

The following week the commissioners will meet with trustees of townships at separate meetings to plan road projects for the year. Rusk said the county works out road projects with the 18 townships on a rotation basis, attempting to aid six to eight townships a year.
